

Member's Destination Presentations Wednesday, June 25 @ 6:30 p.m.

It's time for our second annual Member's Destination Presentations! This program was a hit last year and is returning with new presentations and LOTS of information for YOU, the photo traveler.

It is designed to introduce, help you plan, and excite you about new places to visit and photograph from a photographer's point of view.

Five of our own club members volunteered to present a 15-minute program on tips about their experiences traveling and photographing their favorite destination, including outstanding images to prove it!

Here is our line up for a SUPER June meeting:

First up is long-time member Bob Mandich who will discuss details about his two weeks with the people and villages of the Lower Omo Valley in southern Ethiopia.

Al Wilson, our second presenter, is also taking us to far away places, revealing his secret photo spots in southern Europe and the Republic of Italy.

While you are planning your trip across the ocean you can still shoot locally. Sonja Longley will take us on a journey through our own backyards and share her images of "Hidden Abstracts."

Back to distant places, Candice Francis is sharing details about her Antarctica adventure in a program titled, "Antarctica...Why would anybody want to go there? Antarctica...Why it is the first place I would choose to return to."

Last but not least, concluding this exciting and informative meeting, "Snakeshooter" Kevin Price will bring us closer to home and share information about the "Sky Islands of Arizona during Monsoon Season."

This meeting has something for everyone and I would like to thank those members who have taken the time to prepare their presentations.

Hope to see a great turn out supporting our membership in June! -- Sandy Zelasko

Stay Inspired!

Many of us have a real lack of time to indulge our passion for photography. So, when we are out there for only one or two days a month we play it safe. We follow our tried and true approaches to come back with photos we know that work, based on past experience. With this approach we can lose enthusiasm and get the feeling of "been there, done that". I am having this feeling right now, this week in my beloved Montana.

So, I have decided to go to my familiar places here in Montana, but with an eye freed from restraints/rules for what works for "best images" and simply get out there with my camera, shoot whatever catches my eye at the moment, and see if this approach will rejuvenate my enthusiasm for just being out there with my camera.

Sunday, June 8. at Deer Park Winery in Escondido

A handful of energetic NCPS photographers ventured out to an annual car show at the Deer Park Winery in north Escondido, adjacent to the Lawrence Welk Resort. Beautiful scenery and beautiful weather greeted the few intrepid photographers as they studied the eclectic mix of antique and classic cars parked on the lawn below the vineyard, in the shade of mature oak trees. Our few resolute photographers included Dan Nougier, Sonja Longley, Hugh Cox, Ted Whirlledge, and Robert Conrad. In addition, a few glasses of wine were enjoyed with friends at day's end.

THE FAB FAIR 2014 NCPS MEMBER PARTICIPATION

The International Photography exhibition had approximately 4000 entries this year. From that, 1376 images were accepted into the exhibition. Twenty-four NCPS members had a great showing with 65 images. Here are our results:

THE FAB FAIR 2014 STUDENT SHOWCASE AND CREATIVE YOUTH IMAGES RECEIVE NCPS DONATED AWARDS

This year, as in the past, members of North County Photographic Society judged the photography sections of the Student Showcase and Creative Youth exhibits at the 2014 San Diego County Fair. We have a photo of those judging Student Showcase; our Creative Youth judges were Sing Baker and Joyce Mate. Our club also provided donated awards to four photographers whose images we are pleased to share with you.

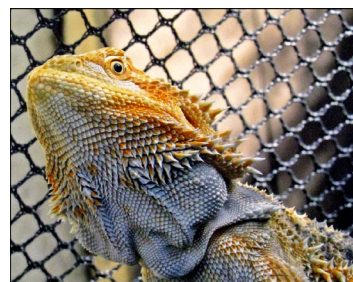

Patty Hayton, Palomar College, received a $50 award for her entry in the Monochrome division of the Student Showcase (this was a gelatin silver double exposure).

Araceli Mendoza, El Cajon Valley High School, received a $25 award for her entry in the Color division of the Student Showcase.

Courtney Reiter, age 13, from Lakeside, won $50 for her rodeo image in the Senior Division. Courtney was also our award winner in 2012.

Griffin McRory, age 10, from San Diego, won $25 for his iguana photo in the Junior Division.

NCPS is pleased to recognize their fine images.

June: No Member Share this month because of our annual Member Destination Presentations

Thank you all for your submissions for "Wide Angle." We had some really nice work presented. We saw some of the challenges when working with a WA: curved horizons, the "crop factor" in APS cameras, distorted straight lines, etc., all the things which we can work with when we become familiar with our cameras. And thanks to those who stayed and viewed the submissions.... it's always encouraging to see interest and participation.
